GARDEN TOURS GROUP ANNOUNCE DEFINITE PLANS FOR PAGEANT

Week in Bay-Waveland—Hold Meeting Wednesday and Shape Outstanding Feature For Big Event—Only Two More Weeks To Go.

A call meeting of the Garden Tours committee was held Wednesday afternoon to discuss further plans for Gulf Coast Pageant Week—March 17, 18, 19.

Booths Along Route

Designs for booths and signs to be erected at strategic points along the proposed route were submitted and discussed. Mrs. Marielouise Juden and Mrs. A. G. Favre will be in charge of these arrangements. "The Magnolia State" and "W. A. McDonald & Sons" will donate these booths.

Scouts in Uniform

Plans have been arranged for Girl Scouts in uniform, to be stationed at all filling stations along the tour, to give information and directions to visitors.

During the tour, Mrs. Nina Stillwell will hold an exhibition of her water colors. The place of exhibition has not been decided upon as yet.

The committee in charge, and the owners of gardens to be opened on this occasion all have their plans well in hand. Enthusiasm is running high. Shades of pirates, pretty girls in costume, bandannaed Mamies, and plantation singers are all taking form to lend their air of romance to the scene.

Feast of St. Joseph

Two other unique features to be open to visitors will be the "Feast of St. Joseph" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gaspar Maurigi and the Shrine of Our Lady of the Woods in the convent grounds.

No doubt the "Feast of St. Joseph" will be something the northern visitors have never seen before. The Sisters of St. Joseph's Academy have been very busy cleaning up and beautifying the surrounding of the Shrine so "Our Lady" may look her best for Pageant Week.

Remember! There are only two more weeks in which to get ready for this big all-Coast event, March 17, 18, 19, the Seven-Cities-by-the-Sea will be hosts to the entire country.

Bay High Boxing Squad to Give Two Meets at Local Gym

Boxing team of Bay High School will meet the Bogalusa mittmen in Bay St. Louis Monday night, March 6 and will meet the squad from Moss Point Friday, March 10, both dates next week. The bouts will be at the school gym, 8 o'clock p. m.; admission 15 and 35 cents.

BAY GARDENS NURSERY NEW AND SUBSTANTIAL ENTERPRISE FOR BAY

Many Plants of Variety and Quality to Be Found Here—Home of the Famous Camellia—Rose Bushes, Azaleas, Shrubs—Wholesale and Retail Business.

A promising enterprise that bids fair to become a Coast industry of no small magnitude and employing a number of people is the nursery and gardens of Mrs. E. Mogabgab, known as the Original Bay Gardens, located on South Beach boulevard, near the Bay-Waveland corporation line.

A visit to the Gardens is more than ordinarily interesting when one views the number of growing plants, variety and quality.

Home of Camellia

Specializing in roses, shrubbery, azaleas and camellias, in addition to other plants, here are many of the camellia variety, possibly hundreds—potted, medium and larger sizes, all growing out in the open and giving evidence of hardy and healthful stock. Variety of formation and color of blossom are numerous and priced at astonishingly low prices. Just now is the time to plant both camellia and azaleas as well as roses. It is the accepted time and one may well select stock to either start a garden or to replenish.

Landscaping A Specialty. In addition to the nursery business the Bay Gardens management specializes in laying out private and public gardens and landscaping. Just now the firm has contract for landscaping two of the larger residential

STORY OF ORIGIN OF PILGRIMAGE TO NATCHEZ, MISS.

Mrs. Catherine Grafton Miller, Descendent Pioneer Natchez Family, was Originator.

An idea born in the fertile brain of an attractive young matron eight years ago has transformed Natchez from a sleepy old Southern City, wallowing in the doldrums of a spent aristocracy, into a bustling community full of itself and bent on showing the world its well-preserved and unmatched treasures.

Jerked almost overnight from a long lethargy that blanketed the city from the time fabulous fortunes of Natchez planters vanished during the War Between the States, this river bluff city of some 15,000 inhabitants is currently cashing in on its mellow and romantic past, its old world mansions with their priceless appointments and a delightful hospitality peculiar unto itself.

Natchez actually was re-born on the morning of October 4, 1931. It was then that Katherine Grafton Miller, descendent of a pioneer Natchez family, conceived the idea of an annual national Pilgrimage that would enable the nation to turn back the pages of history a hundred years and live briefly in the atmosphere of those courageous, cultured and aristocratic Americans who lifted Natchez to a position high on the world's horizon during that half-century preceding the Civil War.

It was by no means an easy task. Mrs. Miller encountered obstacles on every side. Natchezians, for the most part, scoffed at the idea of inducing tourists to visit their city purely for a glimpse of the glamorous old mansions, and those who agreed that a few might come ridiculed the thought they would pay for the privilege.

But time has borne evidence of the soundness of Mrs. Miller's idea. Since the initial Pilgrimage in 1932, attended by more than 1,500 persons, the attendance has doubled, tripled and quadrupled.

Today, Natchez is busy preparing for its Eighth Annual Pilgrimage, sponsored by the Pilgrimage Garden Club. Directing the venture is Mrs. Miller as full of energy, determination and faith as the day she conceived the idea.

Already hundreds of visitors are pouring into the city. Indications point to the largest crowd in the Pilgrimage Garden Club's history. Hotels are flooded with reservations, but the tireless band of women, many of them owners of the quaint old mansions, continue to arrange for their guests who will come between March 4th and March 19th.

Topping the guest list, which includes members of many of the nation's ranking families, is the country's First Lady, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. She will tour the homes three days after the formal opening and on the night of March 7 will deliver her lecture, "A Typical Day at the White House."

So it seems that Natchez, the first capital of the Mississippi territory and once the center of Southern culture, aristocracy and wealth, has definitely struck the "come-back" trail, and all because a vivacious lady, seeking an outlet for a lot of energy and organization effort, had an idea eight years ago.

S. W. STOWERS IS NEW COUNTY AGENT FOR HANCOCK COUNTY.

S. W. Stowers, whose home is at Natchez, Miss., has been appointed county agent for Hancock county, succeeding John Bozeman, who recently resigned to accept a similar position up-state.

Mr. Stowers comes highly recommended. He was formerly with the Extension Department, working in Jefferson, Franklin and Pike counties, a trio unit. He comes to this part of the State from one of the "fast coming" live stocks of Mississippi.

Yet a young man, with considerable learning and experience, he plans to intensify his work in Hancock county, and is aiming at the maximum results. He is making his home at the Answer.

MARCH 3 DATE SET FOR SHOWER

And Dedication Hospital Nursery—Prominent Speakers to Be Present.

Mrs. A. F. Fournier, president Bay St. Louis King's Daughters, announces March 3 as day and date of formal dedication of the infant nursery addition to the local hospital, recently completed.

Dedication exercises will be preceded by a hospital "shower" under direction of Mrs. Emily Lacoste, and associates. This will take place beginning at 3 o'clock.

At 4 o'clock dedication will follow. Principal speakers for this occasion will be the Rev. Leo F. Fahey the Rev. Warwick Aiken, Rev. A. J. Boyles. Mrs. Fournier, president, will preside at the exercises.

Members of King's Daughters and friends of the organization and the hospital as well as specially invited to attend both the "shower" and dedication.

Mrs. Fournier will be assisted in receiving by members of a reception committee, appointed for the occasion.

The new addition will fill a long-felt need. This building and equipment was made possible by the heirs of the late Miss Celia Smith, of Memphis, who was recently treated at the hospital following an automobile accident, and also through the added generosity of Mrs. C. A. Sporn of New Orleans and Bay St. Louis, and the carpenters and builders who gave their services gratis.

Friends of the hospital and that embraces Bay-Waveland and the entire county as well will look forward to Friday, March 3, and in gesture of good will and as a tribute of faith and appreciation attend the double event.

Contributions to the shower will be thankfully received. Mrs. C. E. Craft, superintendent of hospital, will be glad to confer, in advance, with parties desiring to contribute gifts to the "shower." The hospital is in need of much and the public is asked to be as liberal as possible.

Savings And Loan Associates Active Is Mississippi Area.

Getting off to a flying start in 1939, the 23 insured savings and loan associations in Mississippi financed 97 loans on Mississippi homes in January, it is reported by Nugent Fallon, General Manager of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation. The cumulative figure of the amount of loans on the books of these institutions totaled $4,152,000 on February 1.

"All indications point to a fine year for home financing and home building, and it is expected that the insured associations in Mississippi will play a very important part in supplying the funds for much residential building in that state," Mr. Fallon stated.

He pointed out that, in addition to mortgage lending, these insured associations provide their communities with exceptional facilities for thrift. As of February 1, $3,438,000 in savings was invested in these institutions. Each amount is insured up to $5,000 per person by the Insurance Corporation, a $117,000,000 Federal Government insurmentality.

Aggregate assets of the insured associations in Mississippi amount to $4,769,000.

COME OFTEN AND STAY LONGER.

Editor J. G. Cashman, editor Vicksburg Post, recently was on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, visiting the camellia and azalea gardens of this section and on Bellegrath and Mobile. Returning home he wrote a lengthy and interesting editorial, telling of his trip. It is evident he likes our "charming section" and our "intriguing ways."

Here is the winding paragraph of his editorial of appreciation: We like the Gulf Coast, this charming section and now that good highways have put us only a few hours' distance removed, we are going to come oftener, get better acquainted, learn more about the history, romance and charm of these fellow Mississippians, and broadcast their intriguing ways of life.

BAY ST. LOUIS' THREE HIGH SCHOOLS INVITED SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST

Emory University, Atlanta, Offers $300 Scholarship To 20 High School Seniors

Three high schools in the Bay St. Louis area have been invited to participate in the sixth annual high school scholarship contest of the Emory University Alumni Association, it was announced today.

The schools are Bay St. Louis High, St. Joseph Academy, and St. Stanislaus College.

The contest will bring $300 scholarships to 20 high school seniors in the Southeast, according to an announcement by Robert F. Whitaker, executive secretary of the Emory Alumni Association. Awards will be made on a geographical basis. If a writer does not accept the scholarship for his region, it will be offered to the alternate winner.

Last year more than 1,000 high school seniors in eight states took the examination. Participation is open to seniors in accredited high schools in Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee.

Awards will be made on a "basic preparation" test, including the various fields of high school work. Students with superior scores on the examination will be awarded "Certificates of Excellence" by President Harvey W. Cox of Emory.

Examinations will be held simultaneously in the participating schools and will be administered by a school official or an Emory alumnus in the community. Students wishing to enter must notify their high school principals before March 10.

"This is not a college entrance examination," the Emory announcement emphasized. "It is designed to find the best rather than the average student. Success or failure on this test has nothing to do with entrance requirements."

MAGIC OF WAVELAND'S GROWTH.

NO section of the Mississippi Gulf Coast with comparative area has developed in building of dwellings as Waveland over a period of the past two years.

This progress continues. An acceleration is noted. The trend to build, to provide for more housing facilities, the urge to go forward has been noted more than once.

Just now there are either in process of building, many completed within the past few months, and more to follow than within like period in the history of Waveland.

In that section across the railroad back of Coleman ave. and along and contiguous to Jeff Davis avenue several new dwellings are finished and we are reliably informed more are to follow. Included in this number is a resident of Jacksonville Tenn., who is to build in a section of land recently opened by the owner selling, and more of this type are to follow.

Waveland is undergoing may improvements. Just now, under the administration of Mayor Thos. J. Bourgeois, and his associates, several streets are undergoing process of hardsurfacing. A prerequisite to any community intending to build and develop.

Waveland's native beauty is only comparable with other beauty spots of the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Its wide open spaces, oak and pine trees; its proximity to New Orleans, puts it in a class of its own. Waveland is destined to become a great resort town; a city of residences, an ideal spot to call home. And with the steady march of improvement it is not difficult to see great possibilities are soon to be realized. Waveland, in a sense, is practically a suburb to New Orleans with its teeming population of nearly a half million. Its realty values do not diminish but continue on the upward trend.

Just a reminder that might save your life; drive carefully.

It is interesting to hear parents, who rarely read a book, criticising children for not studying.

FREE HOSPITAL AND DENTAL CARE.

CITIZENS of our sister state of Louisiana enjoy free hospital and free dental care under a state plan for hospital care for the needy of that commonwealth, according to the American Public Welfare Association.

Louisiana has six state-built hospitals and private hospitals are paid to care for patients too distant from the state institutions. Moreover, clinics offer crippled children's service, supply prenatal and postnatal care and make social disease tests.

A fleet of twelve trailers from a mobile dental clinic that offers dental treatment to every needy child.

In the past year and a half, we are told, 40,295 persons received treatment under the Louisiana plan, which is financed by partial proceeds of a one per cent public welfare revenue tax.

A poster in a railroad station reads: "Railways, highways, waterways, airways, but only one—railway—pays all its own way." That's something to think about.

FOR HIGHWAY SAFETY.

THE campaign for highway safety in the United States has produced encouraging results in the past few years but there is no reason for any one to suppose that the goal of safety has been attained.

The thousands who continue to die upon our highways attest the need of continued emphasis upon safety. The lesson should be presented continually and persistently in order that lives may be spared.

Once again we express the opinion that rigorous enforcement of traffic regulations, including careful issuance of driver's licenses, will do much to remove the peril. No person should possess enough influence anywhere to escape prescribed punishment for traffic violations.

U. S. Supreme Court decides employees have no right to stage a sit-down strike, thus seizing the boss' property.

TO FURTHER SPIRIT OF PATRIOTISM

HARRY AYRES, of the Anniston Star, is urging every county in Alabama which bears the name of a great American to hang a portrait of the man for which it was named in the county court house. It is a good idea. We are thinking of counties right here in Northeast Mississippi which bear the names of great men, including Clay, Monroe, Lee Webster, each great in his day and generation.—West Point Daily Leader.

This is not a bad idea. Many minds will concur in this opinion. What would be more appropriate than a picture of John Hancock in our local courthouse?

Another of the world's deep mysteries is how men of reputed intelligence, like Senator Pepper of Florida, can be led astray by crack-brained theorists of the Dr. Townsend type, asks Edgar G. Harris in his column "The March of Events," Daily Times-Leader.

A PLEA FOR MORE CO-OPERATION.

DATES for Mississippi Gulf Coast Pageant are rapidly approaching and if there is any clean-up, dress-up and paint-up campaign in progress we fail to see signs thereof. Comparatively little has been accomplished aside from the committee at work.

The campaign for a better looking community seems to have not hit its mark as squarely and fully as desired. Local pageant committees and this newspaper have carried insistent appeals and no end of publicity given to attain the goal aimed.

People who hope to succeed in the community in which they live and make their livelihood must contribute to the success of such a place. It is pointed out that little interest manifested is responsible for the lack of brightening the town. It is further stated that the man or woman who reads and hears fails to hearken for the reason they take it for granted that it is the other fellow concerned and not they.

Well, dear reader, this plea for clean-up has been intended for you—and not for the other fellow. If the neighbor has failed that is his shame. We should feel proud of our city and our own premises alike. Depending on each other's success one is as important as the other.

We note a group of women, who could be named on the fingers of one hand, so small the number, have been working diligently and unceasingly the past several weeks, giving the bulk of their time, spending their own individual money in the interest of the Gulf Coast Pageant as it affects Bay-Waveland; they have used their talents and energy without limit and without price—all for the benefit of the community. The question naturally arises, what have you done and what are you doing Mr. and Mrs. Citizen to co-operate? There is yet time to answer this challenge.

KING'S DAUGHTERS' HOSPITAL.

OUR city and county are blessed with a hospital, which the King's Daughters and Sons organization have given, and comparative with little outside aid, is sustaining. We owe much to this band of noble workers who labor in His name.

But as much as this small band of men and women who constitute the local King's Daughters and Sons, who, by their small annual dues keep the project alive, and with municipal, county and State aid, there are many demands made on the hospital and few are ever turned down.

Pay patients are few and far apart. Charity patients are many for so small a hospital. Last month there were thirty-three charity patients—averaging over 1 a day.

We have no more deserving project than the hospital. And there should be a general rally to meet the demand for further support.

It is for this reason a "show" will be given this Friday afternoon, to be followed by dedicatory exercises, marking completion of the new addition of a baby nursery. The "show" should be largely attended and contributions should be liberal. In addition to things that may be used, bed linen, covering, supplies for the bath and the sick room, other substantial contributions may be included.

We owe a lasting debt of gratitude to the Bay Chapter King's Daughters and Sons. It is to them we are indebted. They should be fully supported and encouraged; given all aid possible in order they may continue their endeavors and attain in the fullest measure all result possible.

A large attendance and liberal contributions would prove a substantial testimonial of the community's appreciation. We cannot overestimate the value of such blessing in our midst. Mrs. A. F. Fournier, president, and her associates have accomplished a great and lasting task.

TRYING TO REGULATE OTHERS.

THE human race is made up of a great variety of individuals, whose customs, thoughts, ideals and manners vary to an amazing degree. Consequently, it might a good idea for those interested in improving the race to realize that it cannot be done by prescribing one mold to which all persons must conform upon penalty of destruction.

There are people who like reading while others prefer dancing, some prefer religious ceremonies while other yearn for solitude and so on the conflicting ideas of what is desirable might be listed.

The widely prevalent conception of the "right life" that includes rigorous persecution of non-conformists will not add much to the improvement of the race. The past history of the world, we believe, bears out this observation. However, since men and women like to regulate others there will always be a tendency on the part of majorities to make minorities fall in line.

Every individual, in an ideal community, would be allowed to live his or her own life, according to individual conscience, with the sole proviso that no one injure another in such an existence. Except to meet the requirements of this proviso there is no excuse for the regulation of others, either by law, custom or the mass pressure of society.

THE DIFFERENCE.

WHILE the Congress of the United States, in thoroughly democratic manner, is discussing the possibility of fortifying Guam, the Japanese government, without bothering about parliamentary debate, seizes the island of Hainan.

Here you have an illustration of the methods that differentiate democratic and dictator nations.

The same thing will be apparent in regards to starting a war. In democratic nations the government has to justify its course and overcome a natural desire of people to have peace. In dictator nations the dominant group starts the war and, with compulsory methods, force the people to support it.

There is little chance for permanent world peace so long as any nation can begin a war as easily as the dictators can cut a deck of cards. There is no chance of world disarmament so long as any nation, no matter how peaceful, can be attacked with impunity and without publicity.

Bay St. Louis is your town; help it along.

May Have Been Something He Ate.

Ernest Conley, tired of the small talk around his chair in his Atlanta barber shop, sought to liven things up.

A farmer had just delivered several sacks of eggs to fellow barbers and Conley ventured the belief he could eat 26 dozen raw eggs.

Someone handed him a glass and a sack of eggs. He downed 41 in the next hour while he worked.

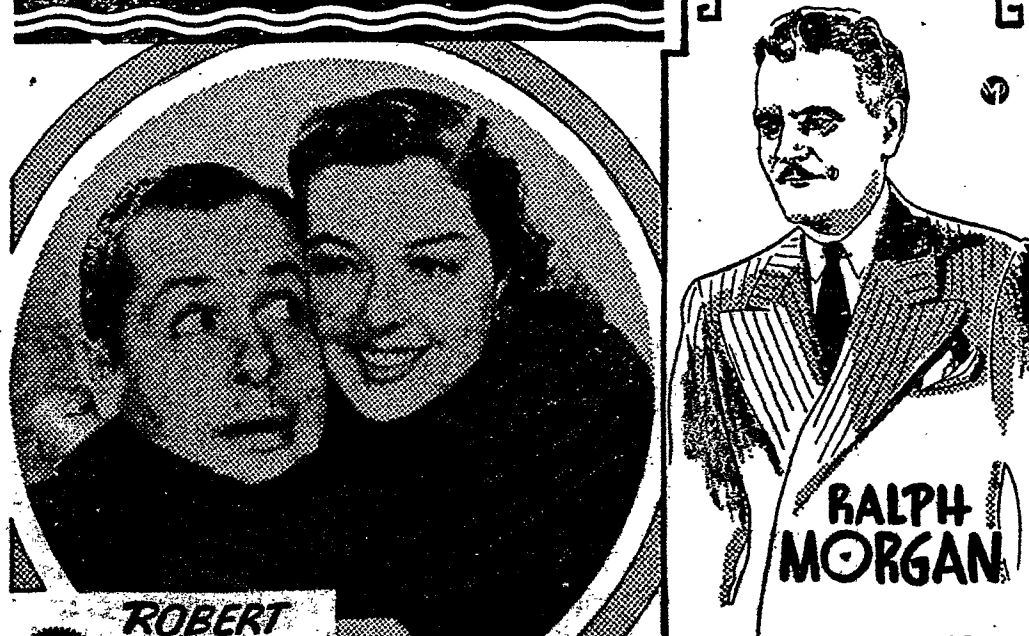

His expression changed as he looked at the 42nd egg.

"What's the matter Ernest," a heckler asked. Conley, 271 short of the number he needed to crack over his doubting fellow workers stumbled to a chair and murmured in a voice that distinctly was not crowing.

"It must have been something I ate."

ECHOES OF HISTORY

From the Dixie Guide

Bay St. Louis, De Lisle—
Cat Island

BAY ST. LOUIS county site of Hancock County, was named after King Louis XI of France. It is the location of Saint Stanislaus College and Saint Joseph's Convent. It was once the home of J. F. H. Claiborne, author among other books of "Mississippi As a Province, Territory and State."

Historically the waters of Bay St. Louis witnessed a desperate conflict December 3, 1814 between American gun boats and British launches in which 1200 seamen and marines participated. An old lady invalid becoming distressed over the delay of the American defenders to get into action cried out, "My Lord, Colonel! Fire one gun for the honor of the country." Rumor has it that the patriotic old lady set off a cannon with a cigarette.

Because of its historic interest, many tourists are attracted to the little town of DeLisle, for many years called "Wolf Town." It is located four miles north of Pass Christian, 12 miles west of Gulfport. It was settled by the French with such names as Dedeaux, Saucier, Dubuisson, Ladnier, Sellier, Lenaz etc., being listed among its early settlers. At one time it was the site for as many as thirteen lumber mills. The lands around DeLisle are beautiful, being covered with beautiful live oaks, pecan and magnolia trees and other beautiful foliage.

Discovered by the French in 1699, Cat Island was later granted to the Cuevas family whose residence stood there for more than 100 years. It is located about six miles off the main shore, due south from Long Beach, Miss., is triangular in shape, having three points—south point called Goose Point; north point and west point where the lighthouse stands.

Goose Point is a large spit of bare white sand and is so named because of the fact that wild geese assembled there in the winter to obtain food and with which to grind their food.

According to the poet Longfellow and others who have given wings to "the legend of the Singing River," there once lived a beautiful Pascagoula maiden who fell in love with the son of a neighboring chief. Pursued, this brave and his bride, preferred death to capture and with their tribe walked singing to their death in the waters of the Pascagoula. Now at times fishermen hear the chanting of this tribe, as their spirits sing their dirge of an ancient past. Thus the Pascagoula is called by the poetically inclined "The Singing River."

A EULOGY FOR GREATNESS.

(S. S. C. ROCKACHAW)

(In Memory of Pope Pius XI)

A EULOGY for greatness

Has ne'er been sung by man.

'Tis measured by the hour of glass,

The green blades in a field of grass

With more than normal span.

For words are just like leaves

And can be blown away.

But pious Fame has no such bounds

And rocks will rot, before the re-

sounds

The twilight of its day.

If worldly grief's a sign

That greatness waits a man,

Then thousands, sad and chilled of heart

Who weep for life that did depart,

A concrete symbol stand.

The world was blessed through him,

And homage tries to pay

To one so kind, yet strong and new.

"I still have many things to do"

What nobler could he say?

That light has not been quenched

Though Death has claimed the frame

As long as men strive toward the goal

Of clean perfection of the soul

This Pope will still have Fame.

Tours of Mississippi

(S. S. C. ROCKACHAW)
(By John Beck)

To reach the Spanish Trail instead of rounding the Bay we take an easier route and cross the two mile bridge between Bay St. Louis and Henderson Point. On the other side we find nestling along the point a few cottages and the "Inn-by-the-Sea," a beautiful little resort hotel built along the Spanish Mission style.

Continuing along the Coast, we come to little Pass Christian, a town of 3,004 inhabitants. The "Pass," despite its century old importance as a resort town is in reality just a little of the old "Deep South" saved over through the years for our enjoyment. Winter visitors furnish a livelihood to many of the townspeople who are proud of the town's background of over a century of existence as a resort.

Pass Christian gets its name from its discoverer—Christian L. Adair, one of Iberville's men. This discovery was made in 1699. Both the French and Spanish settled here, and when Mississippi became a territory, the town became the trading center for all the back country.

Down the old Red Creek road passed the caravans of oxen and wagons bearing cotton hides, furs, venison, potatoes, honey, turkeys, gophers (dry-land burrowing tortoises), and peanuts. A garrison was stationed at Pass Christian in 1811. During the years before the War between the States, "the Pass" attracted many of the sugar, rice, and cotton planters from Louisiana, Alabama, and Mississippi. The first yacht club in the South was organized there in 1849, the year in which many of the present mansions were built. In the 1880's the tourists began to come from the North.

Beach Boulevard runs along beside the famous "longest" seawall in the world. On the inland side are numerous hotels antique shops, and filling stations built to attract the visitor. These fit in perfectly with the beautiful homes—set back from the Boulevard and surrounded by gardens fenced with flowered shrubs. These gardens contain roses, oleanders, azaleas, crapemyrtles, palms, and camellia japonicas. The flowered fences are of honeysuckle, wisteria, roses and trumpet vines.

Pass Christian is famous for its delicious small oysters which are brought in from some thirty square miles of reefs just off the town. During the oyster season the "put-put" of the boats putting out to the reefs can be heard for miles inland.

ratified, approved and confirmed. Supervisor Shaw seconded the motion to adopt the foregoing resolution, and the question being put to a roll call vote, the result was as follows:

Supervisor Murphy voted aye.
Supervisor Wheat voted aye.
Supervisor Shaw voted aye.
Supervisor Lott voted aye.
Supervisor Kellar voted aye.

The motion having received the affirmative vote of all of the members of the Board of Supervisors present, the President declared the motion carried and the resolution adopted, this 9th day of February, 1939.

The Board took up for consideration the matter of proceeding with the issuance of Fifty Thousand, Five Hundred Dollars ($50,500) Refunding Bonds of Hancock County, as provided for in and by that certain resolution adopted by the Board on June 6, 1938. Whereupon Supervisor Kellar offered and moved the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolution to amend a resolution adopted by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, on the 6th day of June, 1938, relating to the issuance of Fifty Thousand, Five Hundred Dollars ($50,500) Refunding Bridge Bonds of said County.

Whereas, heretofore, to-wit: on the 6th day of June, 1938 the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, did adopt a certain resolution authorizing, ordering and directing the issuance of Refunding Bridge Bonds of said County in the principal amount and sum of Fifty Thousand, Five Hundred Dollars ($50,500), for the purpose of taking up and refunding a like amount of outstanding Bridge Bonds of said County as in said resolution fully set forth and described; and

Whereas, it was provided in Sections 8 and 11 of the aforesaid resolution that the said Refunding Bonds be issued and delivered to Messrs. Walton and Jones, Messrs. Wiggins & Company, Messrs. Leland Speed Company, all of Jackson, Mississippi, and M. A. Saunders & Company, Inc., of Memphis, Tennessee, as refunding agents for said County, at such time and in such amounts as the said refunding agents would surrender to the Clerk of this Board for cancellation an equivalent amount of outstanding bonds in said resolution described; and

Whereas, thereafter, to-wit: on the 26th day of August, 1938, this Board did adopt a certain resolution cancelling and rescinding its contract heretofore entered into with the aforesaid firms; and

Whereas, this Board does now desire to proceed with the issuance of the aforesaid Refunding Bonds, and, to that end, desires to make other and different provisions for the delivery thereof;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, as follows:

Section 1. That Sections 8 and 11 of that certain resolution entitled: "Resolution authorizing and directing the issuance of Refunding Bridge Bonds of the County of Hancock in the State of Mississippi, in the amount of Fifty Thousand, Five Hundred Dollars ($50,500) for the purpose of taking up and redeeming a like amount of outstanding Bridge Bonds of said County; Prescribing

Laurel, Mississippi, has issued a beautiful folder to be used during the visit to that city by the representatives attending the Chemurgic Convention to be held in Jackson next month, calling attention to Laurel as the Chemurgic city, where chemistry applied to the waste products of the farm is working miracles for the New South. The folder calls attention to the fact that Laurel is an industrial city of parks and gardens with beautiful churches and public buildings and residences of ante-bellum grandeur.

Dearman, New Game Commissioner.
Mr. W. F. Dearman has been named as State Game and Fish Commissioner, to succeed Mr. St. Corley, who resigned a few days ago, as head of this commission. Mr. Dearman has been assistant to the commissioner in the department for a number of years and is well known throughout the state.

Traffic Safety.
"Lives won't be saved by mere conversation." That is the statement made by C. C. Carlton, before the Michigan Good Roads Association, at Grand Rapids, on February the third. He laid down the following as four essential conclusions as a coordinated safety movement. First. Since traffic is essentially a local problem, any state or community may have the degree of traffic safety its citizens and public officials determine to achieve. Second. The traffic problem will yield most readily to the application of known and proven methods and techniques by trained, career personnel in both official and non official fields. Third. Public support for effective and balanced programs will be forthcoming in proportion to the degree of emphasis placed on methods for assuring public acceptance. Fourth. Traffic safety is as much a public responsibility as public health, fire protection, and other safeguards for the public welfare, and as such, must be publicly financed with due regard to budgetary limitations.

Health Progress.
Dr. Felix J. Underwood, Executive Officer of the Mississippi State Board of Health, through H. B. Cottrell, M. D., Supervisor of Field Units, has issued a table of statistics showing the accomplishments in sanitation from 1931 through 1938. This statistical table, states Dr. Cottrell, is but a rough estimate of the work done, and if the cost data had been sent in from all counties of the state, the amount of money involved would have totaled approximately one million dollars. In other words, the health departments have been instrumental in creating $1,000,000 worth of business in the state in addition to improving living conditions and promoting better health.

Spend $65,000 Monthly.
Construction superintendents in charge of work programs in the State Parks of Mississippi met a few days ago in Tishomingo State Park. The meeting was called by State Park Director, J. H. Fortenberry, who also invited Graham Ruskon, Inspector of the National Park Service. Methods and accomplishments were reviewed and plans discussed. Sunday. Isn't this loyalty personified. Out of gratitude Mr. Orter extends an open invitation to all his friends to use the court at their convenience.

Original Civil War Papers.
Dr. W. D. McCain, Director Department Archives and History, states that he has just recently added to the Department a very valuable number of original papers on the Civil War, consisting of 100 pieces of Brig. General Thomas J. K. McKean relating to the Battle of Corinth, September 16, 1862 to October 30, 1862. It is a historical collection of outmost importance as to the details of this major campaign, including General McKean's appointment to the common and final report. The collection contains field dispatches, casualty list, general orders, telegrams, reports of commanding and minor officers. Many famous names are signed to the various orders. The collection also contains many newspaper clippings.

"OUT WEST WITH THE HARDYS" HAS COLORFUL RANCH LOCALES

Choosing the wild open space as the locale for their varied adventures in romance and typical American life, the Judge Hardy Family returns to the screen again in "Out West With the Hardys," which comes to the A. & G. Theater, Sunday and Monday.

This picture is the fifth in the series on this average American family and carried on with the same stars in another action-filled episode of their colorful doings. The story is replete with hilarious comedy, human and heart-warming pathos, and trials and tribulations. The family goes West as guests on a huge ranch where Mickey Rooney as Andy Hardy finds his nemesis in a little Western girl, played by Virginia Weidler, eleven-year-old actress. He leaves Polly (Ann Ruth-erford) behind in the city but returns to her in the end. Meanwhile, Judge Hardy (Lewis Stone) finds his mettle tested in keeping the family together and to solve the mystery of some lost water rights. Marian Hardy (Cecilia Parker) again falls in love, this time with the ranch foreman with Gordon Jones in this role. She also eventually returns to her Carvel boy friend, Don Castle.

The picture again stars the group of favorites whom millions of motion picture fans have come to know and love. Lewis Stone continues as Judge Hardy, Mickey Rooney as Andy Hardy, Cecilia Parker as Marian, Fay Holden as Mrs. Hardy, Sara Haden as Aunt Milly and Ann Ruth-erford as Polly, Andy's girl.

The "Judge Hardy" pictures today probably form the most popular series in screen history. The first picture was "A Family Affair." It made such a hit that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer followed it with "You're Only Young Once" in which the family went to Catalina for a vacation. The third was "Judge Hardy's Children," during which the family went to Washington. "Love Finds Andy Hardy," the most recent, was a stay-at-home story for the family with Mickey Rooney as Andy finding himself involved in plenty of romantic episodes.

for the immediate future. Through the cooperation of the National Park Service, the State Park Service is carrying on a construction program with expenditures of approximately $65,000 monthly. The parks on which work is being done at present are Tishomingo, Roosevelt, Percy Quin, Spring Lake and Magnolia.

Growth of Trees.

Joe Folse, Secretary, Mississippi Planning Commission, gives some very interesting facts on the growth of trees in Mississippi as compared to that of northern areas. His figures show that in Mississippi a slash pine 11 years old will be waist high and five inches in diameter. In Nova Scotia, it takes 90 years to grow a spruce tree waist high and 3 1/2 inches in diameter, while in Maine it takes 138 years to grow a waist high spruce six inches in diameter. In other words, according to Mr. Folse, Mississippi can grow a slash pine in eleven years that is just as good for wood-pulp uses as the spruce which it takes from 80 to 130 years to grow in the highly developed industry centers.

Water Melon is Favorite Food.

U. S. Department scientists have proved that what is said about Dixie water melons being good is true. In a recent "palate poll," designed to find out what Americans like to eat, it was found that southern negroes average about 30 pounds of water melons and 12 pounds of poultry a year. Residents of North Atlantic states eat only 3 pounds of water melons by contrast. The Pacific Coast leads in spinach-eating, with every member of the family averaging about 7 1/2 pounds of spinach yearly. The heaviest beef-eating is done around Alabama and Tennessee, while people in the Rocky Mountain section drink the most milk. When it comes to onions the West Coast is way out in front.

"Adventure on the High Seas" is Winning Story.

The Short Story Contest sponsored by the Rock-A-Chaw has come to an end, and the winner, Aaron Domingue, a senior, wrote the best story submitted. Stories were judged by Brother Anselm.

There were nearly fifty-five stories submitted, especially from the Senior and Junior Classes. The title of the winning story is "Adventure on the High Seas." It relates the adventures of the author as an operative of a detective agency in New York, who is sent to investigate and discover a smuggling gang in the Orient. The smuggling cargo is Chinese who are brought from the Orient and smuggled into America to light the smuggling ring. As announced in the last issue of the Rock-A-Chaw, the stories were not to exceed six hundred words, but Brother Anselm changed the number to double that amount announced in this publication.

The winning story follows:
Not long after I had left the New York harbor and the last glimpse of the statue of Liberty had faded from sight, I went to my cabin. The weather wasn't so good and this being my second voyage, I hadn't quite got my "sea legs." However, I felt strong enough the next morning, in spite of my ashken look, to stroll on deck. Why headquarters had sent me above fifty million other men, to do a job like this, was more than I could see. But knowing that it was my job, I was determined to do my best. The steamer I was on was a tramp steamer, not a very luxurious thing, but a steady going boat and not in my line of duty. The government agencies had sent me to run down a ring of smugglers. Not of jewelry or opium, but the lowest traffic in the world; the smuggling of men. Aliens were being brought in, right and left. How? Nobody knew, and it was my job to find out. So pulling my cap down a little farther, over my ears, as the wind was a little strong, I took another look at the rallying waves and started for my cabin. Not watching where I was going I bumped into another passenger—a big statue of a man about six feet tall and probably tipping the scales at two hundred. I opened the contraption. At first I thought my eyes had deceived me, but then I knew they hadn't. I wished they had, however, for the sight I saw was not a pleasant one. Chinese! Probably a hundred or more had been thrown in this pit to be smuggled and sold into the United States. But things must have gotten too hot at the New York harbor and they weren't taken out. They were being taken back to the Orient. There was no ventilation and probably they had not food or water since being taken aboard. There were moans from some. Others looked as though they were dead. I shut the door and hurried back to my cabin.

Several days elapsed before we arrived at Shanghai and during those days I discovered that the Captain and my queer friend whom I encountered the first day, were at the bottom of the ring. The scream I had heard that night on deck was a frightened alien whom they had killed because he was making too much noise. I had enough evidence to put them both where they belonged.

The day we arrived in Shanghai the headquarters there, were at my service, and together, we took my two ship companions into custody. They are now, where they cannot pursue their illegal business.

ter telling me to watch where I was going, I supposed he was the sort of fellow who was used to giving orders and not taking them. Interesting looking prospect, even though he might have been a descendant of Frankenstein.

I reached my cabin, went in, and turned on the lights. I knew there weren't many passengers on board, this being a tramp steamer and heading for the Orient. So evidently my friend and I were going in the same direction. That, however, did not relieve my feelings. I sat down at my desk to make out a report to send back to headquarters. I had just picked up my pen when I heard a knock on my cabin door. I opened it and found it to be one of the crew. He informed me that I was wanted in the Captain's office. I put on my coat and started up on deck. The night was a beauty. Already the moon had come up. Good night for a murder, I thought. I was half way to the Captain's office when the thought came to me.

Suddenly there was a scream and then a splashing which sounded like someone had dropped an anchor overboard. I ran to the rails, but once more silence prevailed. What in thunderation was that? I thought. I set up a good pace to the Captain's office and out of breath; I entered the cabin without knocking. He was sitting at his desk.

"You sent for me?" I asked.

"Yes, sit down."

I took the chair facing the door and after a moment, the Captain said, "You are from Headquarters, aren't you?"

"What ever gave you that idea?" I replied. "There are a always rumors you know."

"There are always mistakes too, you know."

"No, I am afraid you are mistaken this time. You see, my passport will clean up that little doubt of yours."

He took the passport I handed him and said.

"Just wanted to make sure. Got to be careful nowadays."

I said "good night" and started back. That scream I heard had aroused my curiosity and I was determined to find out what it was. I went below without being noticed. It was late, and everybody had retired. After looking around for sometime, I discovered something very interesting. It was a square looking door below the engine room. After pulling with all my strength I opened the contraption. At first I thought my eyes had deceived me, but then I knew they hadn't. I wished they had, however, for the sight I saw was not a pleasant one. Chinese! Probably a hundred or more had been thrown in this pit to be smuggled and sold into the United States. But things must have gotten too hot at the New York harbor and they weren't taken out. They were being taken back to the Orient. ### Methodist Episcopal Church, 248 Sycamore Street, Raises Quota.

A certificate of honor for having fulfilled its quota in the Million Unit Fellowship Movement has been awarded the Bay St. Louis Methodist Episcopal church, according to the Rev. M. P. Johnson, 248 Sycamore street, pastor. The local church is one of 926 churches or about five per cent of the denomination's 20,000 congregations in the United States, who already have reached their goals. Quotas for the individual churches were set when the movement, now in its third year, was inaugurated and were based on a community-wide goal of 500,000 "units"—persons who will subscribe one dollar a month as well as undertake the spiritual obligations of the fellowship.

With the strengthening and deepening of the spiritual life of the church as its chief objectives, the Million Unit Fellowship Movement is also endeavoring to secure a better understanding of its missions and benevolences, known collectively as World Service. Thus far, the movement has added about three quarters of a million dollars to the church income for missions and benevolences.

GRATEFUL THANKS.

We the Sisters of St. Joseph wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to all chairmen and chairladies of the various committees chosen for the Carnival Ball of 1939.

Convinced that the huge success of the affair was due to the untiring efforts, to the unyielding zeal of those gentlemen and of the ladies, their co-workers, we feel that words are inadequate to express the gratitude and appreciation which they so justly deserve.

So, in our plight, we turn to the Almighty, the Giver of all good things, and we beg Him to shower the choicest blessings on our kind friends and benefactors.

Sincerely,
MOTHER ST. JOHN,
AND COMMUNITY.

March 1, 1939.

RANDOM ECHOES

NOT to be outdone by its sister cities of the Gulf Coast Pass Christian is to have a new post office building to be constructed and owned by the federal government. The House Appropriations committee announced the treasury and post-office department has approved federal program buildings to cost $146,421,000 for construction in any future building program authorized by the Congress. Pass Christian is allotted $70,000 for postoffice.

Mississippi Gulf Coast pageant forces will place in the three-day pageant scenes of historical interest and spots of rare beauty, notes a local observer, "that the average home folk will be equally interested (and amazed) as the thousands of visitors who will form the three-day trek from Bay-Waveland on to the eastern limits of the romantic Gulf Coast at Biloxi-Ocean Springs. The interpretive comment of this scribe of the enterprise is that such pageantry will prove of educational value to youth and adult alike.

A commercial trailer, owned and operated by the I. L. Lyons drug company, of New Orleans, spent Monday in Bay St. Louis parking at various places along the beach front—in the commercial district. Within this perfectly-appointed trailer was a complete stock of samples (splendidly and intelligently displayed) of modern fishing tackle—from reels to angle any fish to any artificial bait of every color and description—a deceptive bait for every fish. Color in term is used advisedly, for here one found every color of feather in brightest hue, artificial minnows and whatnot to lure and capture.

A visit to the trailer is worth while. Local druggists, where stops were made, contacted prospective customers and sales resulting were brisk. Patronage is the reward for such attractive and complete exhibits of things that delight the heart and quickens the anticipation of the piscatorialist.

Occupants of homesteads within the limits of the municipality of Bay St. Louis, in order to obtain tax exemption, will have to file an application for this benefit again this year, and every year thereafter. In the county this procedure is required only every two years. Parties enjoying the privilege of home exemption this year will not be given same next year unless application for it is filed at the City Hall with Commissioner W. L. Bourgeois, city tax-collector.

Attention is also called to the fact that summer residents, who, in part, are entitled to home exemption, and who failed to do so in time last year, might get busy now and come under the beneficent provisions of such law. This is given as information and a reminder as well. The limit for filing, such application is June. However, it is well to do so today.

There is a disposition for organizing the annual Carnival Ball and court, presented annually at St. Joseph Academy Memorial Hall, under auspices of Mothers' Club, into a more systematic and on a permanent basis, with the Mothers' Club as co-sponsors and funds realized to be appropriated to the convent gym fund as every year.

The object of organization, it is stated, is to procure the co-operation in a whole unit and to make for a more solid and definite status. The lady and her associates suggested, said each member would pay certain dues and would be entitled to certain privileges or distinctions, fashioned after the famous carnival balls in New Orleans. The primary object, it is further stated, by the payment of certain dues, would make for a substantial nest egg each year.

THE ECHO'S COOKING CLASS

THE serving of dumplings at dinner usually means thrills as well as a surprise for the family. One never knows whether it conceals a well flavored apple, cheese or even a juicy onion. There are many kinds of dumplings, plain dumplings, savory and dessert dumplings.

Foundation Recipe

1 1/2 cups flour
1-8 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
2-3 cup of milk (enough to make it the consistency of biscuit dough.)
Sift together flour, salt and baking powder, add milk, then pat or roll on board till half an inch thick. Cut out with a very small cutter and drop into the boiling stew. Cook 10 minutes without removing the lid of the saucepan. If the lid is lifted before the dough is cooked the rush of cold air may cause the dumplings to fall.

Boiled Fruit Dumplings

Make a dough by the recipe above and cut into squares about 3 inches. Put as spoonful of berries, plums or a small pared and cored apple in the center of the dough with sugar to taste. Wet and press the edges of the dough firmly over the fruit, so that they will cling together. Tie each dumpling in a square of cheese cloth and plunge into fast boiling water. Cook from half to three-quarters of an hour, according to the fruit used. Serve with a hard sauce.

Egg Dumpling

1 egg
3 tablespoons milk
2-3 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
Beat the egg till light, add the milk and mix. Sift together flour, salt and baking powder and add the egg and milk to these to form a heavy batter, using a little more milk if necessary. Drop by spoonfuls into hot gravy and cook 15 minutes without removing lid from saucepan.

Cornmeal Dumplings

1/2 cup yellow corn meal
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups boiling water
2 eggs slightly beaten
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
Combine cornmeal, water, onion and salt. Steam 2 hours. Add eggs and parsley. Shape in small balls, roll in flour and cook 10 minutes in hot soup.

Creamed Salmon, Asparagus and Noodles

Boil a package of flat noodles until tender. Drain well. Mix with 1 cup of cream and 4 well beaten eggs. Season with salt, pepper, paprika, and a chopped parboiled green pepper. Put in a greased ring mold, set in hot water and bake until firm in an oven 350 degrees. When done, unmold and fill with creamed salmon and asparagus tips. Garnish with buttered tips.

Make a light cream sauce, about 2 cups. Add 1 cup of flaked canned salmon. Season to taste. Add part of acan of heated asparagus tips, seasoned with salt and pepper and a little melted butter.

Sole Florentine

6 fillets flounder
1 tablespoon fat
1 cup milk
Bread crumbs
1/4 teaspoon salt—pepper
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Chopped cooked spinach
Heat fat, add flour and mix well. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly until smooth. Cook eight minutes. Add cheese, salt and pepper. Stir until cheese is melted. Put the fillets in salted hot water to cover and let simmer until done. Put a layer of well-seasoned spinach in the bottom of a greased baking dish and place sole on top. Cover with sauce and sprinkle with buttered crumbs. Brown in the oven. Serve with potato purée, baked stuffed tomatoes, celery and radishes.

Macaroni Mold

1 tablespoon gelatin
Salt
1 cup cooked macaroni
1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
1/2 pimento, chopped
1/2 cup chopped apple
2 tablespoons lemon juice

MISSISSIPPI DESERVES CONCRETE ROADS*Mississippi Cotton plays an important part in building
CONCRETE ROADS

As your car glided over that thrilling stretch of concrete today, the chances are you did not realize that Mississippi Cotton played an important part in the building of that road. But Mississippi Cotton did!

Concrete paving uses a big share of the 20,000,000 pounds of cotton in cotton cloth sacks used annually in the cement industry. Now comes a new, fast-growing use for cotton: More than 1,200,000 sq. yds. of cotton mats were used during the past three years for "curing" freshly placed concrete pavements. Cotton mats have proved ideal for protecting fresh concrete against the summer sun while hardening.

From these figures it is apparent that concrete road construction offers a vast market for cotton. Concrete is being chosen for an ever-growing mileage of roads and streets, in recognition of its superior durability, safety and economy.
